IS THIS DEGREE RIGHT FOR ME?

The Department of Political Science offers a Bachelor of Arts in Political Science as well as elective courses in political science for program majors and non-majors. The political science curriculum has two central objectives. It offers the student a broad liberal arts education along with a comprehensive understanding of the political process and government of the United States, comparative studies of government and politics, international relations, theories of politics and government, and research methods. It also provides a sound foundation for graduate study in political science, public administration and nonprofit management, or for careers that require knowledge of governance and the political process, such as law, lobbying, consulting, risk analysis, and diplomacy.

WHAT IS THE IMPACT ON MY DEGREE OF WORK I HAVE ALREADY COMPLETED?

- Associate Transfer Degree Completion: The completion of a transfer associate degree results in all lower-division general education requirements being met when you transfer to VCU.

- Dual Enrollment – Completion of Associate Degree in HS: The completion of an associate degree concurrent with high school results in 60 credits of coursework applied towards your degree and VCU’s general education courses will be satisfied. High school students must apply to VCU as freshman applicants for orientation and engagement purposes.
- Credit for Prior Learning: VCU accepts AP, IB, Cambridge, CLEP, DANTES, and military credits.
- Catalog Year: VCU will honor the degree requirements of the VCU Undergraduate Bulletin in effect at the time of the student’s first post-high school enrollment into an appropriate associate degree at the two-year institution. Students must stay enrolled at their community college and take no more than four years to complete their associate degree. Students must also enroll at VCU within one year of completing their associate degree.

PROGRAM SUCCESSES & HIGHLIGHTS

The Department of Political Science offers unique courses and opportunities that help students gain firsthand experience and pursue meaningful research projects on issues they care about. In the Political Campaigns and Communication course, for example, students travel to New Hampshire to meet with presidential candidates and volunteer for candidate campaigns. Meanwhile, students in the department’s Diplomacy Lab work with State Department officials to research a real-world problem affecting U.S. foreign policy and make recommendations directly to diplomats and policy makers in foreign governments. Faculty affiliations with the Institute for Democracy, Pluralism, and Community Empowerment and the Institute for Sustainable Energy and Environment open doors for students interested in community empowerment, political engagement, social justice, the environment, and energy. Recent students have also created nonprofit organizations, traveled abroad to study in Kenya, Italy, and Australia, conducted field research with professors, presented co-authored research articles at major conferences, participated in podcasts, and even published their work in prominent periodicals.
